PRESENTATIONS / PUBLIC HEARINGS

Chair’s Opening Statement: We’re still trying to figure out a way forward in the face of COVID-19 which affected people of color disproportionately. We are reeling once again from the murder of a person of color at the hands of those meant to protect us: the police. We are seeing devastation not seen since the Great Depression. As a result, we have had lockdowns to control the spread of the coronavirus. And we have local businesses that have been devastated by rioters and looters who took advantage of the chaos and disorder for their own benefit. We are facing multiple traumas now due to a lack of leadership – both at the federal level and at City Hall. I think, as community leaders, even if this board serves only in an advisory capacity, there are things we can do to make life easier for everyone in our city.

At the early stages of the pandemic, Eric Bottcher secured donations from Friends of the High Line and the IEC to provide pantry-stable food to those in need. I am pleased to announce that the Hell’s Kitchen Hudson Yards Alliance, let by our former district manager Bob Benfatto, has to date secured enough funding for Manhattan CD4 to have another 500 boxes of pantry-stable food to deliver.

As a next step, there is an action we can take tonight. I am going to propose a New Business letter to Mayor de Blasio imploring him to have the NYPD focused on preventing looters and rioters and leaving peaceful protesters alone. Additionally, I am going to convene a working group to explore what recommendations we can make to the Mayor to combat the institutional racism of the NYPD. Some obvious answers have already been suggested, such as the repeal of Section 50-a of the New York Civil Rights Law that shields police officers’ disciplinary history from public scrutiny. There is more that can be done, and the working group will prepare a letter to the Mayor with a list of recommendations that will be approved at the July meeting. Finally, I am going to reconvene the Small Business Working Group, led by Burt Lazarin, to investigate measures that can be taken to help small businesses in our district which have suffered losses, whether due to the coronavirus looting or otherwise.

Presentation: CB4 Commendation to Avenues School, 259 10th Avenue for Volunteer Efforts During COVID19 Epidemic

Board Member Inge Ivchenko began the presentation with a statement describing Avenues School the World School. The school exists to create future world leaders uniquely equipped to solve global-scale problems. It provides a transformative world-focused learning experience in key cities and countries around the globe, enabling their graduates to thrive during a time of unprecedented and accelerating challenge and

	change. The Avenues New York campus is based in Chelsea and is part of a growing network of campuses, including Sao Paolo, Brazil, Shenzhen, China, and online. Its community values are composed of three pillars: welcome, safety, and respect. These pillars are universally honored by students, parents, alumni, faculty, and staff across the Avenues campuses. Avenues has made a real effort to become a member of the Chelsea neighborhood, and much of the credit goes to Morgan Jones, the director of community engagement and partnerships. While the COVID-19 pandemic tragedy has touched us all, it allowed Avenues to shine as a beacon of hope, helpfulness, and leadership. A recent example of their generosity was the provision of 360 care packages to families in temporary shelters in our district. They also jumped into a letter-writing campaign and made it part of the curriculum. They donated money to the EMT station in Chelsea and sent food to emergency workers at hospitals around the city. Morgan Jones thanked the board for this commendation and introduced Ava Laden, an 11th grader who worked with 25 student volunteers and faculty to make 500 masks that were donated to community groups within the district. He then played a video in which the girl scouts from Troop 3762 talked about the fundraiser they held that enabled them to donate lunch to 250 medical workers and 500 more to the Holy Apostles soup kitchen.

Public Session
Larry Roberts	Mr. Roberts asked a question regarding the letter to the Governor in Agenda Item 10 that asks for the installation of a bike lane along the West Side Highway. He was seeking to know whether any research was done before the letter was drafted. He likened the approach to that which led to the Open Streets program which made West 51st Street an open block with disastrous results. He wants the board to reconsider its position.
Carla Fine	Ms. Fine complained about the response of the 10th Precinct to an incident at Clement Moore Park the previous week. She said there were about 12 young men who entered the park on dirt bikes who rode around the park shouting obscenities at people who tried to stop them. Ms. Fine called 311, 911 and the NCO, but got no response for over an hour. Finally, a patrol car came up 10th Avenue with the siren on and an officer just rolled down the window and kept moving. When Ms. Fine heard of the same kind of response by the 10th Precinct to the looting that was taking place a few days later, she filed a formal complaint at the precinct.
Jon Mandel	Mr. Mandel spoke about a party of about 100 people that congregated on the 400 block of West 51st Street this past Saturday as a result of the block becoming an Open Street under the Mayor's new program. He complained about people drinking, not wearing masks, and not social distancing. He blamed the Posh Bar for much of the problem and noted that Posh has not been a good neighbor in the past. He wants the Board to aid in getting the City to enforce the rules on Open Streets.
Graig Linn	Mr. Linn, of the 49-54 Block Association, commented on his experience on Saturday when he first was notified by the City that his block was eligible to be an Open Street. He noted that the DOT quickly put up a barricade but did not supply signage setting out the rules governing Open Streets. That prompted him to make his own signs and stand outside for two days to explain what was happening. He stated that people, including the Posh Bar, wanted to comply with the rules and they did. Posh closed its doors promptly at 8 pm each day and served food as well. He is asking that, in the future, there should be sufficient notice, proper signage, and a plan. Mr. Linn went on to complain about the lack of notice with respect to new temporary shelters being opened in the neighborhood.

Dave Duke	Mr. Duke thinks that opening a bike lane along the West Side Highway is something the Board should reconsider. He is concerned that people who live in the City and use their cars to commute to and from work would be inconvenienced even more than they already are with congested streets and highways.

Remarks from Elected Officials
Assemblymember Dick Gottfried	Mr. Gottfried reported that his office began receiving calls early Tuesday morning regarding the looting and violence taking place the night before in Chelsea, particularly around 9th Avenue and 20th Street. He learned from eyewitness reports that it had nothing to do with the peaceful protests but was simply criminal looting by an organized group of people taking advantage of the situation. Upon seeing photos of these incidents, he immediately sent an email to the 10th Precinct stating that there did not appear to be anything close to an effective response by the police. He stated that it took them over an hour to respond – long after the looters had left – and this was all happening only a block and a half away from the station house. The Senate and Assembly will be convening in Albany with many members doing so virtually. They will be taking up a package of bills dealing with the issue of police reform. One that has gotten a lot of attention is Section 50-a of the NYS Civil Rights Law, which makes confidential all police officer personnel records. It is unique in New York and conceals from public view all records of misconduct and abuse. Mr. Gottfried voted against passage of Section 50-a in 1976 and has been pushing for its repeal ever since. He is a co-sponsor of a bill to repeal it and he is hoping it will finally happen next week. There has been a major problem with the spread of COVID-19 in our nursing homes. It is as serious as it is because of decades of state policy and practice concerning nursing homes. The state has tolerated understaffing in nursing homes and the state’s corps of inspectors have been seriously understaffed. Enforcement has been as lax as ever. Soon, there will be public hearings on this in the Assembly Health Committee, which Mr. Gottfried chairs. He is working with the Senate health committee on this as well. Mr. Gottfried has long taken the position that there should a bigger share of taxes on ultra-high wealth because much of the tax burden in New York has fallen on working people. To make matters worse, we are underserved when it comes to housing, mass transit, education, health care, and a host of other things. He has been working with a coalition in the legislature to raise more revenue from high wealth to deal with the consequences of COVID-19 as well as the longstanding lack of services that New Yorkers have been suffering.
Senator Brad Hoylman	Following up on Mr. Gottfried’s words, the Senator stated that he was looking forward to getting back to Albany to take up the package of bills on police brutality and racial injustice. Among the bills being considered are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Repeal of Section 50-a of the Civil Rights Law. • The Senator’s bill known as the Police STAT Act which for the first time would require police departments across New York State to record and report information on who is arrested and ticketed, what race they are, where it happened, and how many people are dying in police custody.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Legislation that would codify the Governor's Executive Order establishing the State Attorney General as a special prosecutor for police violence. • The Eric Garner Anti-Chokehold Act which would make it a class B felony for police officers to cause serious physical injury or death to a person using a prohibited chokehold maneuver. The Senator co-signed a letter with Assemblymember Gottfried asking that the NYPD move resources from their surveillance of protesters to protecting our personal property. He believes that the protesters are doing a good job by themselves. Among the 31 COVID-related bills that were passed last week was the Senator's bill to allow pharmacists to administer a vaccine once one becomes available. Parents have been reluctant during the pandemic to take their children to a doctor's office for a vaccine and having pharmacists available in their neighborhoods would make them more likely to do so. The Tenants Safe Harbor Act, which was introduced by the Senator, passed in both chambers of the Legislature last week. It protects residential tenants who have suffered financial hardship during the COVID-19 pandemic. The Act allows only money judgments, and not evictions, for unpaid rent that comes due while restrictions are in place due to COVID-19.
Borough President Gale Brewer	Ms. Brewer spoke of a press conference that she had attended hours earlier that was organized by the chair of Community Board 12 in Washington Heights. Its purpose was to resolve tensions between Latino and African American youths that began when a group of Dominican youths who were protecting stores from looters confronted a group of peaceful African Americans. The press conference was a success. Ms. Brewer, like Senator Hoylman, attended several rallies to show her support for the protesters. She toured the Meatpacking and SoHo BIDs over the past couple of days and believes her involvement was helpful. She suggested that some bridges and tunnels be shut down during the curfew to keep out vehicles with out-of-town plates and concealed plates as a way to minimize looting and disruption. This was done. Ms. Brewer has taken an interest in the new uses of outdoor spaces that have been proposed. She also welcomes the latest development in COVID tracing, which involves testing for the virus at the City's water treatment facilities, and she has been in contact with the DEP about it. This is currently being done in other parts of the world, so DEP should review it as part of the City's plan for tracing and testing. The Borough President is continuing work in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Food security for seniors and the use of Fresh Direct. • Fighting for the arts and participating in the bi-weekly virtual meetings being held by two uptown arts groups. • Pushing the City Council to enable the Summer Youth Program. • The Police Athletic League hiring about 100 interns over the Summer. • Getting tutors for 178,000 students who will be enrolled in Summer School. • Having full time, culturally-appropriate social workers in every school. On Tuesday, June 16, Rob Snyder, the Borough Historian will be holding a virtual forum from 2-4 pm on the topic of oral history and way to archive the coronavirus pandemic.
Council Member Helen Rosenthal	The Council Member noted that the City is required by law to have a budget by the end of June and that she is a member of the budget negotiating team. The City is facing a $10 billion revenue shortfall and a likely $3 billion shortfall in state aid. So, with a $93 billion

	budget, that represents over 10% of the City’s operating expenses that have to be worked out. It will have to be determined which cuts are necessary and where additional revenue might be found so that important social services are not interrupted, and firehouses not closed. Two obvious state laws can be changed to provide more revenue and the easiest one to pass would eliminate the automatic rebate of securities transfer tax. The tax was enacted in 1905 and was imposed the moment a security was bought or sold; it amounted to only pennies on the dollar. But in the 1980s, the current law was passed that provides for an automatic rebate of the tax to the brokerage houses. Now, seems to be the perfect time to eliminate the rebate because, during the pandemic, the only individuals who made any money were the brokerage houses on Wall Street. By law, any revenues gained by the tax would be split evenly between the City and the State. And while there are bills in Albany to eliminate the rebate, they are pre-COVID and include provisions on where the revenues can be spent. But with the City now in a revenue crisis, the focus should be more on gathering revenue that was lost during COVID than on spending. In the course of negotiating the budget, the Council Member has been receiving calls and emails about taking money away from the NYPD and adding money to social service and human service programs. One Ms. Rosenthal’s colleagues who is not on the negotiating team feels that it is unfair to punish the NYPD this way and that, if it is police behavior that needs improvement, then there should be other solutions. One that she has suggested would be to require any officer who is transferred to a new precinct to complete 90 hours of community service in the new community to become familiar with people there and what their needs are. This is an idea that Ms. Rosenthal supports.

Remarks from Representatives of Elected Officials

Kevin Jean Baptiste for D.A. Cyrus Vance	Mr. Jean Baptiste provided updates on activities during the time of COVID-19: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The office has responded to numerous complaints of price gouging and instances of people attempting to scam others into providing personal information. The office set up an email portal where these issues can be reported: fraudcomplaints@dany.nyc.gov • At this time last year, the office saw no complaints or assaults against Asian Americans, but this year there have been 11 that the office is investigating. The D.A. is ramping up his campaign against hate crimes and encourages people is to use his hotline to report them. • The D.A. responded to concerns about people being quarantined with an abusive partner during the pandemic by creating a list of resources that can be found at https://www.manhattanda.org/victim-resources/domestic-violence/ • The D.A. released a statement regarding putting an end to excessive force by the police. It can be found here https://www.manhattanda.org/statement-by-d-a-vance/

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ District Manager met with new Breaking Ground Homeless Outreach Leadership to review the impact that looting, curfew, and Covid-19 has had on street outreach teams. Positive news: they are still touring 24/7 and 8 additional teams of outreach specialists will be coming online shortly. ○ District Office is forwarding all reports of stores being vandalized to the Mayor’s office and Small Business Services. ○ MCB4 closed two of its three short term consultant contracts. We now have a preliminary community needs assessment and a report of dangerous intersections in our neighborhood. ○ June Committee Updates and Board Reminders: ○ All June Committee meetings are meeting at their regular date and time and will be held remotely using zoom. The links to attend all of these meetings are on our website. ○ Reminder: July’s Full Board meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 22nd.
Board Chair Report	The Chair reviewed his activities during the past month: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● He and the District Manager met with all of the new members to welcome them and review committee assignments. ● There have been many meetings with DHS and service providers regarding the new shelters in the District and the lack of notice to the community before their opening. He is continuing to pursue a remedy for that. ● There was a call last night regarding issues at the Lantern Shelter and things appear to be improving. ● ACES is holding a virtual forum on the reopening of schools in the age of COVID-19 on June 8 at 6:30 pm. Sign up links are on the CB4 website. ● ACES is holding a meeting next week to find ways to help theatres during the pandemic. ● During this General Meeting, he reviewed the Open Streets program with Christine Berthet. She reported that she observed six of the seven approved blocks that were approved for opening and they were working well. She confirmed that there was a lack of notice and proper signage. Her most distressing observations were of people congregating in groups everywhere along 51st Street and 9th Avenue where they were drinking and disobeying the rules of masking and social distancing. She believes that it comes as a consequence of the relaxation of the open container law. The Chair added that the BLP Committee would be taking up the legislation introduced by Senator Hoylman to extend the pick-up and delivery rules that are enforced by the SLA. ● The Chair asking for volunteers for the new working group being set up to deal with NYPD and its race relations issues. ● He reminded everyone to vote in the June primaries and to complete the census.
