Public Session
James Wallace	Mr. Wallace, who is a Board member, spoke on his own behalf in conveying condolences to a fellow Board member who recently lost a loved one.
Brian Weber	Mr. Weber is a resident of West 36th Street and the co-chair of the West 36th Street Block Association. He is also a public member of CB4. He referenced the announcement made at the last Full Board meeting that one of the temporary shelters on West 36th Street would be moving to West 40th Street. He noted that the move occurred two days later and that living conditions on his block improved immediately thereafter. He acknowledged that there is still much that needs to be done in the West 30s to make the neighborhood livable again.
Julie Rosen	Ms. Rosen introduced her colleague Bill Higgins from Higgins Quasebarth & Partners to discuss the McGraw-Hill Building letter that is the subject of Agenda Item 1.
Bill Higgins	Mr. Higgins and his firm are the historic preservation consultants for the McGraw-Hill Building whose application before the Landmarks Preservation Commission was first discussed at a Clinton/Hell’s Kitchen Land Use Committee meeting in January. The proposal that Mr. Higgins presented at that meeting included replacing the iconic McGraw Hill sign at the top of the building with the street address of the building: 330 West 42nd Street. The thought of removing the name McGraw-Hill from the landmarked building did not sit well with the committee members and their comments resulted in the owners subsequently agreeing to withdraw that part of the proposal. Mr. Higgins thanked the members for the level of discourse and civility that he experienced during the conversation.

Lisa Wager	Ms. Wager is the Director of the Office of Government Relations at the Fashion Institute of Technology. She made the following announcements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A FIT graduate had a role in the Presidential Inauguration this year, just as another graduate did in 2008 when Michelle Obama wore a shimmering yellow coat and dress. This year, Lady Gaga’s entire ensemble – a fitted navy jacket, red skirt, and gilded dove-of-peace brooch – was designed by Daniel Rosenberry. Also, Kamala Harris’ great-nieces wore leopard-patterned coats designed by a FIT alumnus based in Oakland, California. • There are several FIT events for Black History Month that are open to the public. The Black Student Union has created a multimedia online exhibition called Back to the Present. It includes virtual talks with the artists. A full schedule of events can be viewed at http://www.fitnyc.edu/diversity-equity-inclusion/black-history.php
Marni Halasa	Ms. Halasa spoke on behalf of a group of residents of the Fulton and Elliott-Chelsea Houses who have stood in opposition to any form of privatization in those developments. They anticipate that the RFP process will begin soon and requested that all activity related to RAD and the Blueprint for Change be postponed until the pandemic is over.
Susan Numeroff	Ms. Numeroff asked whether the Board or the District Manager was aware of a recent City Council bill known as the Community Opportunity to Purchase Act (COPA). She was advised to send information about the legislation to the Board office so that it could be reviewed and perhaps taken up by one of the land use committees.
Susan Peters	Ms. Peters voiced the same concerns that she did at the January Board meeting regarding the health dangers posed by the profusion of wireless antennas around the City. She alluded to various scientific studies that she offered to discuss with anyone who wished to reach out to her.
Kathleen Treat	Ms. Treat appeared on-screen beside her husband Martin Treat, a Board member. As an admirer of the McGraw-Hill Building, she expressed her support for Agenda Item 1. She also supports outdoor dining and Agenda Item 11.

Remarks from Elected Officials and Representatives
Carl Wilson for Council Speaker Corey Johnson	Mr. Wilson provided the following updates from the Speaker’s office: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Speaker will host a COVID-19 Q+A with other West Side elected officials, the Department of Health, and several community-based organizations on Thursday, February 4 from 6:30 – 8:30 pm. • On February 23, the office will be hosting a DOB Office Hours event for constituents to speak with an agency representative. Appointments can be set up via email to the office.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The office is working with Ace Sanitation to provide additional sanitation services along a strip on 10th Avenue in Hell’s kitchen for one day each week. The hope is that it can be arranged for Thursdays when the Department of Sanitation does not pick up baskets. • The office has continued its pandemic wellness call program now that COVID infection levels have risen. Last month, volunteers made over 2000 calls to seniors to check their health and basic needs. • Last month, the office worked with tenant associations and other community centers in the District to deliver its one-hundred thousandth meal to seniors facing food insecurity.
Borough President Gale Brewer	Ms. Brewer gave the following updates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The COVID-19 vaccine access and distribution issue has been the predominant focus of the office. A task force has been meeting every Tuesday at 3 pm and some calls have included as many as 350 people. The many websites that currently exist have been difficult to navigate and do not give a sufficient number of people the ability to book an appointment. • The office made an effort to alleviate some of the safety concerns that arose when people were moved from one temporary shelter to a different one on West 43rd Street. Masks, hand sanitizer, and bags were handed out to residents, and support was offered to them. • The bill that was passed three years ago on open storefronts requires the owners of every building in the City to report to the Department of Finance by the end of February information regarding their buildings. This data will be available to the public and may be used by the Board to decrease the number of vacancies in the District by working with business owners and entrepreneurs. • The work is continuing on the helicopter noise issue, with progress being made in getting cooperation from elected officials in New Jersey where most of the tourist flights originate. • Ms. Brewer commended the Board members who are on the Chelsea NYCHA Working Group – some of whom are NYCHA residents – for their work. She also congratulated the Board for establishing the Social and Racial Justice Task Force and asked that it reach out to the community for more racially diverse applicants to CB4. The application deadline has been extended to February 22. • Ms. Brewer thanked Chair Kern for his work on Hudson River Park and the removal of the tow pound.
Assemblymember Dick Gottfried	Mr. Gottfried provided these updates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • He criticized state and City officials for their failure to prepare for the vaccination of 20 million New Yorkers once COVID-19 vaccines became available. In addition to that, the Assembly has tried for months to obtain information from the state Department of Health on the number of people who contracted the virus in a nursing home and died in a hospital. The DOH has claimed that it could not compile the numbers. As things turned out, last week, Attorney General Tish James was able to release a report that gave a reliable estimate of those numbers. And, within hours of the report being made public, the DOH announced that it was almost done with its report. The data that the DOH finally reported was in line with that in the Attorney General’s report. • The A.G.’s report not only covers nursing home deaths but reveals a lot about the poor quality of care that many nursing home residents have been getting during

	the pandemic and prior years because of short staffing, inadequate enforcement of code compliance by the DOH and, inadequate funding. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The A.G.'s report also focused on the fact that for-profit nursing homes – which used to have a third of all nursing homes beds in New York – now have about two thirds and the quality of care in such places is far worse than that in non-profit nursing homes where death rates are much lower. The report also pointed out recent legislation that gave health care providers immunity from any kind of civil or criminal liability for their treatment of COVID patients, unless it could be proved that they were guilty of gross negligence. The report validates Mr. Gottfried's belief that this legislation has caused unnecessary harm. • The Health Committee that Mr. Gottfried chairs in the Assembly has been working on legislation to address some of the concerns raised by the A.G.'s report. Such measures would mandate safe staffing levels; require the DOH to develop nursing home data for immediate release to the press and public; require that every nursing home devote at least a mandatory minimum percentage of its revenue to actual patient care. • The Assembly is also going to try to crack down on the number of for-profit nursing home beds in the state and provide greater funding for home care which will allow more people to remain at home and out of nursing homes.
Senator Robert Jackson	Senator Jackson reviewed his recent activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The State will soon be in the red and we are going to have to raise revenue. Everyone in Albany is expecting help from the federal government but it won't be enough, so we will be discussing how to raise taxes. And that may mean having to test our Democratic supermajority in the legislature if the Governor chooses an income threshold that is too low. • My priorities in the Senate during the pandemic have been 1) no one is evicted from their home, 2) people have enough food to survive this pandemic, and 3) our mental and physical health. Education is the next priority because it has been my main focus while in public office. • The Walking While Trans Act – which Senator Hoylman sponsored -- passed yesterday and the Governor immediately signed it into law. • The Legislature created the Armistad Commission in 2005 to review how the topic of slavery is taught in schools and to give the Governor recommendations. Very little has come out of it, and I believe that is because it is controlled by the Department of State. I have been pushing to have it moved to the Department of Education, where it logically belongs. • We passed a bill that alters the way an employer's unemployment experience rating is measured as a result of the pandemic: it freezes ratings for one year any experience rating that would otherwise be raised because of an employee having to claim unemployment due to a business closure. Another bill that we passed during this election year would change the petitioning period to start on March 2 and end on March 25. It would also reduce the number of signatures required on a political campaign petition by 70%. • My office is working with NY Presbyterian Hospital in Washington Heights to enable everyone 65 and older who lives in northern Manhattan, the Bronx, and the 31st Senatorial District to obtain a COVID-19 vaccination.
Luke Wolf for Comptroller Scott Stringer	Mr. Wolf offered updates from the Comptroller's office: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Comptroller will continue the process of divesting over $4 billion of pension fund investments in the fossil fuel industry.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Comptroller released a blueprint for strengthening public health and safety in New York City. It can be viewed here: https://comptroller.nyc.gov/reports/strengthening-public-safety-in-new-york-city/ • Last week the Comptroller sent a letter to the Department of Education regarding the “midyear adjustment,” which requires schools to return allocated funds to the City that were based on enrollment numbers in the Fall. But because some students did not return to their schools because of the pandemic, some schools have to pay the money back and most schools cannot carry that burden. The Comptroller is asking that schools be held harmless and have amnesty through the school year. • Last month the Comptroller released the Fair Shot NYC plan to ensure the equitable distribution of the COVID-19 vaccine. It asks businesses and the City to provide time off for people to get vaccines and calls for doing culturally-competent outreach for people getting the shot. The plan can be found here: https://comptroller.nyc.gov/newsroom/comptroller-stringer-releases-fair-shot-nyc-plan-for-vaccine-equity/
Robert Atterbury for Congressman Jerry Nadler	Mr. Atterbury gave updates on the Congressman’s activities in Washington and the District: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mr. Nadler is the dean of the New York delegation and, as such, has been helping new members settle into their new roles. He is also the most senior Jewish member and leader of that group. So, much of his time lately has been devoted to organizing the House Judiciary Committee as Chair and welcoming new members. • The Congressman’s biggest priority right now is COVID relief. But he is still pushing other priorities through the committee as well. They include democracy reform legislation regarding redistricting, voting rights and enforcement, immigration reform, antitrust reform, LGBT equality, and racial justice reform. • The Judiciary Committee wrote the report that accompanied the recent Articles of Impeachment of Donald Trump and Mr. Nadler helped write the actual Articles themselves. • Since January, the Committee has been pushing the Department of Homeland Security to follow President Biden’s orders on reducing or stopping deportations, which it has been resisting, and to protect the Urban Area Security Initiative which provides large cities like New York with crucial security funds. The Committee has also been pushing the Justice Department to prosecute every person involved in the insurrection on the Capitol Building on January 6. • The Congressman reintroduced the Safe and Quiet Skies Act, which would regulate commercial air tours and give local jurisdictions authority to determine what is appropriate for their area beyond the provisions of the Act and the jurisdiction of the FAA. • Mr. Nadler introduced the Equity and Inclusion Enforcement Act to restore the ability of students across the nation to sue schools for systemic discrimination.
