Bob,

I wanted to send you the pictures as you requested.
Please let me know if I should send more or if this is good.

I am forwarding an article that appeared recently in the NYTimes about a related situation that was dealt with by DEP (Ian Michaels) quoted below...

"The rules, said Ian Michaels, a spokesman for the Department of Environmental Protection, are clear. The law does not distinguish between what some people find pleasant and some people might find unpleasant, he said. Regardless of what the smell is, the law says you have a right not to live with other peoples smells.

I hope that we can get some action on this situation- thesmells still penetrate into the apartments here, god forbid you open a window.

Thanks,

Bryan Whitney

Thanks.

I have been told by many people that it is required by law that kitchens exhaust above adjacent buildings. How could I find out if this is in the health code law ? Is there someone who knows this?

I will enquire with Dept. of Health (Counsels Office) and get back to you.

I will work on some good bad pictures for you. When do you need them by?

There is time, before the end of the month. For now, I have the ones you left me to show next Wed.

Thanks,

Bryan Whitney
